

The Daily Courant.

Monday, August 20. 1722.

THE following Address of the Corporation of Monmouth has been presented to His Majesty by the Right Honourable the Lord Viscount Gage, introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Viscount Townshend, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,
The humble Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs, Common Council, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of your Majesty's ancient and loyal Corporation of Monmouth.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

IT is with the greatest Zeal and Affection for your Majesty's Person and Government, that we presume to approach your Royal Person, and at the same time to declare our just Abhorrence of all traitorous and villanous Designs, fomented and carried on against your Majesty's Person, to undermine and overthrow our happy Constitution.

We congratulate your Majesty on the intervening hand of Providence, in the so timely Discovery of these villanous Conspiracies, and the Promoters of them; and beg Leave to assure your Majesty, that we shall not be wanting on all Occasions to put your Laws in Execution against all those that Reason to suspect to be any Way disaffected to your Majesty's Royal Person or Government, by promoting the Interest of a Popish Pretender.

We are in a more particular Manner obliged to defend your Majesty's Right and Title to these your Majesty's Dominions, as having had the Honour of a Prince (who was afterwards King of these Realms, and from whom your Majesty lineally descended) born in this Corporation.

And we have always shewn ourselves zealously to your Majesty and your Predecessors, we rely upon your Majesty's Favour and Protection.

That your Majesty may long live to make your People happy, and that they may be quiet and undisturbed under your Majesty's mild and tender Administration, from the secret Attempts and vile Conspiracies of all your Enemies, are the hearty and affectionate Prayers and Desires of,

Your Majesty's most obedient Subjects.

Genoa, July 25. This Garrison was alarmed some Days ago from a Report that a great Body of Moors was assembled near Castillejos; upon which the Governour of this Place sent out a Party of 8000 men to get Intelligence. The Party marched eight Leagues from hence into the Country, but meeting only a few Shepherds and Peasants, the Alarm is over.

Cadix, Aug. 4. His Britannick Majesty's Ship the Winchester bound for Lisbon and England, and the Dursley Galley bound for the Straights, are both in this Bay.

Venice, Aug. 7. The freshest Letters here from Constantinople are of the 28th of June: They contain an Account of the amicable Disposition the Grand Signior still continued in towards this Republick, and of the great Agitation that Court was in on Account of the Rebellion in Persia.

These Letters add, that the Fleet which went from Constantinople on this Summer's Service, were only five Sultanas (which are their first Rate Men of War,) so that what Ships have joyned them since are from Tunis, Algiers, and Tripoli.

Genoa, Aug. 11. His Britannick Majesty's Ship the Lime commanded by the Lord Vere, came hither from Leghorn on the 9th Instant, and the same Day sailed for Port Mahon.

Turin, Aug. 15. The 13th Instant his Majesty arrived here from Rivoli with his Royal Highness the Prince of Piedmont, and returned the same Evening. The Paymaster of Deport's Regiment happened to go abroad this Morning a little sooner than ordinary, leaving his Wife, her Sister, and a young Child at home: His Servant, with two others, knowing where he had laid a Sum of Money the Night before, took that Opportunity to rob him of 10000 Livres, which they could not do without murdering the Sister and the Child: The Wife escaped that dismal Fate by being at Mass.

Vienna, Aug. 12. The Emperour held a private Council the 8th Instant at the Favorita, and gave Audience in the Afternoon to several foreign Ministers. The same Day Advice was received from Bavaria, that 40 Barges are ordered to be got ready at Wesserboung upon the River Inne, within seven Leagues of Munich, and among them a magnificent one for the Electoral Prince, who is expected hither by Water with his Retinue. It is reported that a Proposal has been made in Council, to allow the Hungarian Protestants the free Exercise of their Religion, upon Condition that their Children shall be brought up Roman Catholics; but in case such a Proposal has been made, 'tis doubted whether or no it will be accepted by the Hungarians. The Emperour's Answer to the Letter that was wrote lately by the King of Sweden, concerning the Imperial Minister Count Freytag, is dispatched and sent to Stockholm, and 'tis said, that his Imperial Majesty has disapproved of that Minister's Conduct. Advices from Poland say, that the King has put off the Disposal of the vacant Benefices, and particularly that of the Primacy, till the Meeting of the Grand Diet.

Hambourg, Aug. 21. Our last Advices from Dantzick say, that the Polish Affairs do not look with so good an Aspect as that Court had flattered themselves, and as the Diet draws nearer and nearer, the major Part of the Nobility intimate more and more plainly their Backwardness in consenting to the Succession of the Crown in the Electoral Prince of Saxony; as also, that the Command of the Troops should be given to General Fleming. These new Confederates alledge, that the Succession to the Crown cannot be disposed of to the Prejudice of a third Party, i. e. Stanislaus, whilst he lives, without entirely rooting up the Freedom of Election; and consequently, this Article ought not properly to have any Part in the Deliberations of the next General Diet. As to the Troops being commanded by a Stranger, they pretend 'tis directly contrary to the Fundamental Laws of the Kingdom. Also this Party will not desist from the Polish Pretensions upon Courland, but alledge it ought to be annexed to the Crown, notwithstanding the Satisfaction faction given by the Czar at the Treaty made some time ago on this Head, and although his Czarish Majesty will no doubt insist upon his being reimbursed all the Charges he has been at in respect of that Dutchy. As to Grievances from the King of Prussia, they say, that in good Policy no Notice should be taken of them in the ensuing Diet; but be put off to a more convenient Opportunity. Upon the whole, Matters relating to a Diet appear very unpleasant; it is not yet certain that one will be assembled, and if assembled, 'tis much feared it will prove ineffectual as to the Good expected from it.

Paris, Aug. 23. Yesterday the Cardinal Du Bois was declared Prime Minister, the Patent for that high Trust having been delivered to him by the Duke Regent in the King's Name; and this Morning he is to take the usual Oaths. It is said the Duke Regent, the Duke of Bourbon, and the Cardinal, will be constituted a Council, for the Instruction of the young King. Among the several things mentioned in the Cardinal's Patent, setting forth his great Abilities and Services, the first is his Negotiations for Settling and Securing the Tranquillity of Europe.
